PRES. HARDING ASSEMBLES 67TH CONGRESS TODAY

Law Makers Mark Time Until President's Message Is Read.

First Republican Congress
To Meet Under Republican Leader In Decade.

Washington, April 11.—The sixty seventh congress assembled promptly at noon today at the call of President Harding for its first session, expected now to continue probably until fall.

Except for the reorganization of the house and the usual flood of bills there, today's meetings were somewhat perfunctory, the congress marking time until the receipt tomorrow of President Harding's first message outlining his views as to the many important problems before the national lawmakers.

This congress is the first controlled by the Republicans to meet under a Republican administration in a decade.
The senate previously had been controlled at its special session which began last March 4, but the house proceeded to its organization by reelecting Frederick H. Gillett, of Massachusetts, over Claude Kitchin, of North Carolina, the Democratic candidate.

The vote was strictly party lines and Mr. Gillett was elected by an overwhelming majority.

Frank W. Mondell, of Wyoming, was reelected Republican leader, while Representative H. Charles Smith, the Democratic leader by virtue of his nomination for speakership, he succeeds the late Champ Clark.

Nearly all of the 435 members were present for the opening. The crowded house galleries broke into applause when Miss Alice M. Robertson, Republican of the second Oklahoma district, the only woman member of congress, came on the floor. She carried a bunch of red roses.

Miss Robertson was one of the more than 100 new members, most of them Republicans, who answered the first roll call. Most of them stood in groups behind Speaker Gillett when he took his place to be sworn in.

Fully a thousand bills and resolutions, many of which failed to get through the last session were thrown into the hopper long before the house got under way. There was no peace resolution in the lot, this being held back to await the views of President Harding.

Right at the top of the list of bills was the Fordney emergency tariff, vetted by Mr. Wilson, but brought in under another name, passed in its old form except with a stipulation making it effective six months instead of 10. It will be called up Wednesday under Republican program providing for its passage, probably by Wednesday night.

DONAL O'CALLAGHAN MUST LEAVE THE U. S.

Washington, April 11.—Secretary Davis in a formal statement today said he had no doubt that Donal O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, would comply with "the law of the situation" and reship to foreign country as an alien seaman within 60 days from the date of the state department ruling that he was not entitled to asylum in the United States as a political refugee.

MAY PROTEST ORDER.
Philadelphia, April 11.—"O'Callaghan will remain in this country until he considers it safe to return to Ireland," said Michael Francis Doyle, attorney for the Lord Mayor of Cork here today. "Notice was served on the department of labor," he said "that a writ of habeas corpus would be immediately applied for if any efforts were made to deport the lord mayor."

NO SESSIONS IN THE OHIO LEGISLATURE

Columbus, April 11.—Neither house of the legislature will meet this week.
Waiting for the senate to catch up in its work, the house recessed week before last until Monday. The senate last week recessed until next Tuesday.

Legislative leaders believe that the opening work of this session can be up in two weeks after the legislature reconvened and that sine die adjournment can be taken about May 1.

The recess (last week was taken to permit the larger committee to complete their work, especially the senate finance committee, which is considering the huge appropriation bills already passed by the house. The senate, it was learned today will offer some 150 amendments to the finance bills as they were passed by the house.

MORE CASUALTIES IN IRISH STRUGGLE

Cork, Ireland, April 11.—Two con-stabables were shot at daylight yesterday morning while holding a street in the village of Kildorrey, near here.
Both of them died later in the day.

CHINAMAN MURDERED IN HIS LAUNDRY

Cleveland, April 11.—Wong Lee was found shot to death in his laundry here early today. His cash drawer had been rifled. It is believed the crime was committed during the night.

While police held to the theory of robbery as the motive, friends of Wong point out the fact that not all the contents of the cash drawer had been taken and the fact that several personal letters belonging to the victim were stolen. Four bullet wounds were found in the Chinaman's body.

CHIEF OF BUREAU OF ESTIMATES IS TO RETAIN POST

Leon M. Estabrook.

Leon M. Estabrook, chief of the bureau of crop estimates, will become associate chief of the bureau of markets at the consolidation July 1 of these two bureaus of the department of agriculture. The combination of the two bureaus was provided for in a recent act of congress. The market bureau will perform all the work now done by the two bureaus. Estabrook has been with the bureau of estimates seventeen years.

LOCAL FRUIT CROP BADLY DAMAGED

Buds Loaded With Moisture Ruined By Freezing Temperature—Even Apples
Are Affected.

Although Newark experienced a temperature of 85 degrees the early part of last week the cold wave which struck here Saturday pushed the mercury down at a rapid rate and a freezing temperature followed by a snow was experienced early Sunday morning.
All day Sunday the temperature remained around the freezing point and during the night went to 24 or 26. Reports from the country indicate that the damage to fruit trees especially peach and apple was serious.

Mr. Burton Case of Granville reports that a temperature of 22 was recorded in the town but that he expected the temperature at the farm was slightly higher. He stated that due to the snow Sunday and the consequent loading of the buds with moisture the freeze last night did serious harm. He was unable to state the extent of the damage however until through inspection could be made.

The manager of the Cherry Hill Fruit Farm at Toboso was engaged this afternoon in checking up the damage by the freeze and was unable to state at the time the extent of the damage. He reported a low temperature of 20 degrees and stated that due to the cold this morning the buds had not thawed this morning sufficiently for him to determine the extent of damage.

Mr. Homer C. Price who owns and operates a large orchard in the Welsh Hills reported this afternoon that he went through his orchard this morning and found that the peach crop was completely killed. He stated that conditions for the apples were better with about 40 per cent of the varieties killing and temperature in the Welsh Hills reached a level of 25 degrees.

After checking up the damage done by the freeze last night at the Cherry Hill Fruit Farm, it was found that 95 per cent of the peaches, 85 per cent of the plums, 80 per cent of the cherries, 90 per cent of the pears and 50 per cent of the strawberries had been killed.

Practically all of the gooseberries were killed and a large per cent of the currants were killed.

It was stated at the farm today that raspberries and grapes are about the only thing in that vicinity that was saved. The temperature at the farm last night was 21 degrees.

LONDON STRIKE NOT SO MENACING TODAY

London, April 11.—British mine owners and their striking employees conferred for an hour at the board of trade this morning on possible settlement of the controversy which led to the miners' walkout last week. The conference adjourned at noon until 4 o'clock this afternoon. Robert S. Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, presided.

The London Times today warned its readers against expectation that the negotiations would proceed smoothly, or that work would be immediately resumed, as the fundamental differences between the parties still remain acute.

REVOKED PERMIT FOR WESTERN UNION CABLE

Washington, April 11.—Permit for the operation and maintenance of the Western Union cable between Key West, Florida and Colmar, Cuba, was revoked by President Wilson after reports that the Western Union would use this line to connect the Barbados South American cable to American shores, it was disclosed today by a government brief filed in the supreme court.

sociation.

BILL INTRODUCED WOULD ABOLISH RAILROAD BOARD

Rep. Tincher, Republican,
From Kansas, is the Author.

Duties of Board Would Be Placed Under Interstate Commerce.

Washington, April 11.—A bill to ab-lish the railroad labor board, now functioning under the transportation act, and place its duties under the interstate commerce commission, was introduced today by Representative Tincher, Republican, Kansas.

Representative Tincher, in a statement explaining the bill, said the interstate commerce commission was authorized by law to make the rates under which the railroads operated and it should, therefore, fix salaries as these formed an important part of the expenses which the rates were fixed to cover.

Senator Poindexter, of Washington announced that he would re-introduce his bill penalizing railroad workers for any concerted effort to bring about a strike of railroad workers.

WOULD PUT "TERTIUM" IN LABOR DEPARTMENT EFFORTS
Washington, April 11.—Legislation to put "tertium" in labor department efforts to conciliate labor disputes was urged today by Secretary Davis. Both sides should be compelled to live up to agreements reached on decisions or arbitra-tions they have accepted, he said.

"This is not compulsory arbitration," Mr. Davis said. "I do not believe it feasible to pass laws against the right of workmen to strike, but I believe there should be laws to make all parties to labor disputes try to get together before strikes are called."

HAYWOOD LOSES COURT DECISION

Washington, April 11.—The supreme court today refused to review the conviction of William D. Haywood and more than 70 other members of the J.
W. W. on charges of having conspired to obstruct the war activities of the government.

Refusal of the supreme court to interfere closes the long fight to save Haywood and his associates from prison. Only a presidential pardon can now prevent their entering upon the senences imposed.

JAP PAPERS ON HUGHES' NOTE

Unofficial Circles Say Note Implies Another Peace Conference.

Tokio, April 11.—Newspapers of this city have given great prominence to the note from Charles E. Hughes, American secretary of state, to the allies relative to the subject of mandates in general and that over the island of Yap in particular. There has been no official comment, but in responsible unofficial circles the opinion is held that the American note virtually implies another peace conference.

Statements made by Vice Admiral Tomono, Viro Kato, minister of marines, last month relative to the Japanese navy policy are regarded here as intended to answer charges that Japan is unusually militaristic and is insisting upon matters of guarantee so at to avoid which were made to the Associated Press are also looked upon as paving the way for an international discussion of naval policies. Representative Japanese declare that if the naval race between Great Britain and the United States continues, Japan must be obliged eventually to drop out because of financial considerations. If the other powers refuse to curtail their naval programs the government is liable to lose the support of the nation which is clamoring for international reforms.

CLAIM FRAUD IN CUBAN ELECTIONS

New York, April 11.—Charges that fraud was practiced in the recent elections in Cuba have been presented to Secretary of State Hughes and the Liberal party is content to abide by the state department's decisions, even though they be adverse to their claims.
General Jose Miguel Gomez, defeated Liberalist candidate for president said in a statement made public here today,
"We still have faith" he continued,
"in the solemn declaration of the American government August 30 last, assuring the Cuban people that the elections to be held in November would be honest, even if directed by the Cuban government reaffirming that the United States would watch to guarantee so as to avoid a repetition of the disgraceful occurrences which characterized the elections of 1916 and fomented the revolution which broke out the following year.

"We are now constrained to believe that efforts to guarantee the elections in November and gain last month were ineffectual." General Gomez asserted that General Enoch Crowder, U. S. A., who was dispatched to Cuba last January had seemed more concerned to preserve the exterior forms of the election law dictated by him than to look to the real heart of the question.

ONE DEAD, MANY INJURED IN FIRE IN BROOKLYN

New York, April 11.—One man was burned to death and a number of persons were injured early today when ment dwellings in Brooklyn. Women and children, their exit blocked by flames, were carried to safety by police.

OHIO REPORTS A HEAVY DAMAGE TO FRUIT CROP

Losses Amounting to Thousands of Dollars Are Now Estimated.

Apple, Peach and Pear
Orchards Share Fate
of Cherries.

Columbus, April 11.—With the temperature dropping to 26 above zero here early this morning, weather bureau officials, while without definite reports as yet, were positive that severe damage to fruit and crops must have resulted from last night's freeze and frost.

Horticulturists and orchardists expressed fear today that much of Central Ohio's fruit that escaped killing frosts a week ago fell victim to last night's blast.

"The damage will be very heavy and all varieties of fruit will suffer," said Professor Wendell Padlock, head of the department of Horticulture and forestry of Ohio State University.

General use of orchard heaters and smudge pots was reported in central Ohio by large commercial fruit growers.

Reports from over the state indicate that freezing temperatures were general last night. Ohio county fruit growers, according to word received here, believe that, although peaches for the past week, the crop was not seriously damaged. Reports from various sections indicate that a temperature of nearly 30 degrees was reached at most points in the peach belt.

ORCHARDS DAMAGED AT LORAIN.
Lorain, O., April 11.—Frost did $300,000 damage it was estimated this orchards in Lorain county last night.

a freeze 10 days ago.

CLARK COUNTY LOSS $100,000.
Springfield, O., April 11.—Clark county fruit growers estimate the damage to crops in this county by the frost at approximately $100,000. It ruined.

ICE A HALF INCH THICK.
Gallipolis, O., April 11.—A heavy frost and freezing temperature did some damage to fruit in southern Ohio last night. Fruit growers said this morning, but the extent of the damage cannot be estimated for several days, they asserted. Ice half an inch thick formed in this territory last night.

8 DEGREES BELOW FREEZING.
Lancaster, O., April 11.—Fruit which escaped the recent freeze is believed to have been severely damaged by the drop in temperature last night. The thermometer recorded eight degrees below freezing this morning.

MAHONING VALLEY SUFFERS Youngstown, April 11.—Fruit in the Mahoning Valley was virtually ruined yesterday by a combination of 25 degrees, preceded by rain and sleet and followed by a bright sun, according to orchard owners' reports today. The loss in Mahoning, Columbiana and Trumbull counties runs into millions, it is estimated.

SUN DOES DAMAGE.
Wooster, O., April 11.—Horticulturists at the Ohio experimental station today feared today that the cherry, plum, pear and peach crop in northern and central Ohio were almost wholly destroyed by the cold weather and heavy frost last night.

Paul Thayer, of the state horticulturist station, here, expressed some doubt as to the damage done apples.
He said a bright sun which raised the temperature quickly this morning was an added agent of destruction.

PORT CLINTON HAS HOPES.
Port Clinton, O., April 11.—Fruit growers here expressed hope this morning that the Ottawa county peach crop was not severely damaged by last night's cold weather. The temperature dropped to 25 here last night.
Growers said today that a temperature of 20 would be required to completely destroy the crop and that two days of warm weather would be required to ascertain the exact condition of the crop.

They declared that apples and other later fruit is not far enough advanced to be effected at this time.

Cherzanski, Kenmore, was instantly car crashed into the automobile in which they were riding here at 11:45 last night.

Motorman Henry Bates, 907 Second

Robert Ramer, 116 Broad avenue N.
W. Canton are being held on charges of manslaughter.

ness of the tragedy.

of second degree murder was returned here late Saturday afternoon by the ler charged with the murder of her two children on the night of Dec. 5, last.

FORMER GERMAN EMPRESS DIES AT DOORN TODAY

In Exile With Kaiser, She Succumbs To Heart Attack.

The Former Emperor and Princess Adalbert Were
At Her Bedside.

Doorn, Holland, April 11.—Former Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany died here at 6 o'clock this morning. By a strange coincidence the end came just one year after she suffered her first serious attack of heart disease.

It was while she was preparing to enter the house of Doorn, the present home of the former emperor of Germany after her long residence at Ammerongen that she was stricken with what at the time was believed to be a fatal attack.
That was on April 11, 1920. For a few days there were reports that her death was momentarily expected but she rallied and accompanied her husband so Doorn on May 15 last.

Attacks of her fatal malady occurred at frequent intervals, each sapping her vitality and nullifying the measures taken by specialists to restore her health. Within her son, former Prince Joachim, committed suicide in Berlin last July she was in such serious condition that the news of his death was kept from her for a long time and it is said she never learned her son killed himself.

Late last autumn the former empress gradually became worse and on several occasions her children were called to Doorn but her strength was such that she rallied whenever the end was believed imminent. Since the first of this year it had been known that she was gradually sinking.

Former Emperor William and Prince Adalbert were at the bedside when the former empress died. They had been called by Dr. Haesner, who had been the former empress throughout her residence in Holland.

The death came as a shock to the world in Doorn Castle as during last week the patient's condition had been less serious. Never the less last Saturday Dr. Haesner, after consultations with Professor Hyman, the Dutch heart specialist thought it advisable to send a message to Princess Victoria Louise, the only daughter of the former emperor and empress, calling her to Doorn.
The princess, who then was in Vienna, had not reached Doorn when death came to the ex-empress this morning.

Last night the patient was only semiconscious and was kept from suffering by frequent hypodermic injections, but her breathing appeared to become heavily more difficult. At five o'clock this morning the attending nurse, Countess Keller, an old friend of the former empress, to adjust the patient's position so that she might become more comfortable.

As the day broke breathing became still more difficult for the failing patient and her pulse grew weaker.

It then was evident to the physicians that the end was near and Dr. Haesner urged that the former Emperor William and Prince Adalbert be summoned.

The ex-empress became unconscious and her breathing became fainter and fainter until at six o'clock life left her frail body.

The ex-empress stood at the bedside with bent head as death came to her consort, and he remained in the room for sometime afterward.

Little village of Doorn was greatly affected by the news of the ex-empress' death, which spread rapidly early in the day as the artisans were going to work. As the death bells tolled, the streets filled with little groups of villagers, discussing the event.

Augusta Victoria had lived in Doorn less than a year, coming here with the ex-emperor from Ammerongen last May.
During the first months of her residence she visited the village two or three times, but afterwards her malady grew more serious and she was only occasionally seen by the people driving in the park in a pony cart.

It is stated Former Emperor William will accompany the body as far as the Dutch frontier, the dispatch adds.

FREDERICK WILLIAM TO GO TO HOME OF MOTHER.

Wieringen, Holland, April 11.—Ex-Crown Prince Frederick William was informed early today of the death of his mother. He prepared immediately to go to Doorn, awaiting the arrival of the Dutch authorities to accompany him thither.

H. T. Houff, who urged the importance of the occasion. The Granville church will be represented on both afternoon and evening programs by Rev. H. T. Houff and Rev. Frank B. Cressy.

WILL ORGANIZE TO SECURE EUROPEAN QUOTA

An organization will soon be effected in this county to endeavor to raise the quota for European Relief work.

This county is responsible for the saving of the lives of 1280 children in central and eastern Europe, who are dependent upon American Relief stations and medical service to keep them from death by starvation and disease this winter.

"Twenty ten dollar gift saves a life" is the principal on which the collection is being conducted.

Licking county must raise $12,800, therefore, to save the little sufferers assigned to it. Gifts toward the fund are being received by Frederick Black, county chairman and A. C. Krug, county treasurer, for the European Relief Council of which Herbert Hoover is national chairman.

Catholic, Protestant and Jewish organizations, together with the Red Cross and the American Relief Administration have united their relief programs for this winter under Mr. Hoover's direction.

The money raised in this county will be a part of the $2,000,000 which is counted upon from Ohio and which will provide for 2,000,000 children.

It was the second presentation of this delightful story of a wayward but only foolish son, and his two pals, who were really fools, and their "turning to the right" through the wonderful influence of the boy's mother.

Joseph Striker, gave a splendid presentation of Joe Bascom the son and had excellent support from Joseph Her and John O'Connor as Mugs and Billy. Jare Ellison, proved herself an actress of unusual ability, in the character work necessary in the role of Mother Bascom.

The play was well staged, and the entire cast was well selected.

EMPRESS VICTORIA WAS BELOVED OF GERMANS

Collapse of the Central Powers and the vicissitudes of war that drove for mer Emperor William of Germany and his consort into practical exile in Holland in November, 1918, was the lowering of the curtain in the life of the once beautiful Empress and Queen of Prussia, Augusta Victoria, who for nearly 40 years had been the most beloved hausfrau of the German people.

The ex-empress' gravest cloud, next to the abdication of William II, was the tragic death of her son, Prince Joachim, who committed suicide by shooting himself in Berlin in 1920. She was never informed, it is said, that Joachim had taken his own life. Another depressing event which haunted her was the Russian revolution and the fate that befell Emperor Nicholas and his family, with all of whom, before the war, she had been on the kindest terms.

Augusta Victoria was notable chiefly for her keen interest in charitable work and in the betterment of the living conditions of the German poor. It has been said of her that she was not an especially gifted woman and that she cared more for the simple duties of home life than for royal functions.

It is not known that she exercised any considerable influence politically or that she desired to do so. Her talents seemed, instead, to be directed to the task of becoming a helpful wife and a devoted mother to her six sons and one daughter. That she achieved this aim the former emperor attested frequently. He once described her as the "ideal of the virtues of a German princess." She it is, he declared, "to whom I owe that I am able to bear the weighty responsibilities of my position in a joyful spirit."

Concerning the attitude of the former empress toward the war little is known. Some indication of her point of view was given in her reply in July, 1918, to a letter written by the wife of the Dutch minister of war. In responding, she then empress declared that Germany reportedly had manifested her readiness for peace which she declared had not been entertained by the opposing powers.

That she subscribed to the contention of military leaders that Germany was fighting a defensive war, was shown by a statement she issued at the beginning of the great conflict in which she said that Germany was arming itself for a fight "which it did not cause or begin and which it is carrying on only to defend itself." In this appeal she asked German women to aid in easing the German wounded.

Her sympathy with underpaid work ers of Germany was disclosed on a visit it which she paid some years ago to an exhibition of home industries in Berlin, where it was stated that she was deeply moved by the evidence she saw there of the evidence that many German workers earned only starvation wages. "What can be done to stop this misery?" she inquired.

Her tenderness as a mother was revealed during the illness of her second son, former Prince Eitel, whom she attended day and night. Arriving at the house where he was under physicians' care at 6 a. m. one day she refused to arouse any one for fear of disturbing him and, with her maid, walked up and down for an hour in the wintry morning until the doors were opened by the servants.

One of the stories told of her is that she enjoyed visiting schools in country districts, selecting one of the pupils and promising the child to fulfill any wish the child might express. A disconcerting instance happened when she did this in Alsace, where the schools were being Germanized and the French language suppressed. A little girl, receiving the promise of the empress to grant her wish, asked that her school mates be allowed to study the French language. The empress was taken aback, but French lessons were given in that school afterward.

Born October 22, 1858, at Dolzig, Augusta Victoria was the oldest daughter of Grand Duke Frederick of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Augustenburg, and ranked as a princess of Schleswig-Holstein. Her early childhood was spent at Kiel. She married the then Prince William of Prussia on February 27, 1881. They had six sons and one daughter.

When a girl stops asking just what the sensations of love are, it's a safe bet she has found out.

ULA SHARON IS FAVORITE

WITH "BROADWAY BREVITIES"

Ula Sharon, the dainty, talented and graceful dancer who is with the "Broadway Brevities" coming to the Auditorium next Wednesday is fortunate child. Having just passed her sixteenth birthday she is well on the way to fame and she has already danced her way well around the world. But the place she wants to win most of all has been up to this time, denied her: for child labor laws throughout the United States prevented regular appearances in her own country until now. Miss Sharon was born in Kansas and her father is a civil engineer whose work took him about this country and the far East. Miss Sharon went with him, and always she danced, having begun when three years of age. A year ago she went to Australia and there at the Williamson houses headed the bill for eight weeks each in Melbourne and Sydney.

"The Australian people the lovely," said Miss Sharon in discussing this adventure. "They are so generous and open-handed, and on my last night my dressing room was simply loaded with flowers and gifts, and they even followed me out to sea, when the steamer sailed, to wish me a last good-bye. Seats on sale today."

A SMASHING RACING STORY

IN "EXCUSE MY DUST."

"Toodles" Walden (Wallace Reid) is manager of the Darco automobile agency and son-in-law of J. D. Ward ("The Bear"), president of the Darco concern. Ward has the new Darco motor, a marvel for speed and power, hidden Mutchler, president of the rival Fargot Motor Car Company, is determined by fair means or foul to secure a sketch of it.

Egged on by Ritz, a Fargot racing driver, "Toodles" is lured into a race and arrested. J. D. Ward arranges to have "Toodles" license suspended for sixty days and sells all three Darco racing cars on the open market. The Fargot concern secretly acquires two of them and disguises them as Fargot cars. At the auto show, the Fargot company issues what amounts to a challenge to the Darco people. J. D. puts up $10,000 for a road race from Los Angeles to San Francisco.

"Toodles" is one of the old Darcos and names it the "Cyclone." The Fargot representatives think it is the Darco with the new motor.

"Toodles" receives a telegram from his wife in San Francisco that their baby is ill and to come at once. He enters the "Cyclone" in the race.

J. D. hears that the Fargot drivers plan to wreck the "Cyclone." Taking the real Darco with the new motor, he starts out after his son-in-law. Ritz, Fargot driver, attempts to crowd "Toodles" off the road, but the latter foils him by ramming him in the rear. He beats Ritz up, see another Fargot driver come up in a disguised Darco, and jumping into the seat, orders the astonished pilot to take him to San Francisco at top speed.

Old J. D. wins the race, with "Toodles" second. The latter rushes to his wife to find everything O. K.

Above is the story of "Excuse My Dust." The Paramount feature coming to the Alhambra for three days beginning today.

FIRST NATIONAL SPECIAL

"THE INFERIOR SEX"

The Auditorium screens for the first of next week, the big First National Special, "The Inferior Sex," in which Mildred Harris Chaplin is the star. As Alisa Randall, Miss Harris, has a role that is said to be the best she has so far portrayed in movies.

The story, being as follows: Alisa Randall was supremely happy on her wedding eve. For Knox Randall had been an ardent wooer. He had been considered a "catch" by society matrons, and many were the mothers who had schemed to land him in their net—and not few were the daughters who had made secret casts for him.

But Knox Randall had a will of his own and he was not to be lured by any of their tempting bait. Instead he paid ardent suit to Alisa who had been elusive and retiring. He had wooed her like a cave man, rough and masterfully, and she was delighted when he seized her so fiercely that it took her breath and whispered, "You are mine. You belong to me."

Came the wedding and the glorious honeymoon—and then Alisa received the shock of her life, for this brilliant husband of hers was slipping. It was always the office—business. He grew lax in his attention, his kisses grew perfunctory, as though it were his duty. The way she wins him back makes an interesting story.

MAY ALLISON TO PLAY

AT THE ALHAMBRA

May Allison, delightful Metro star, will be seen at the Alhambra in "Are All Men Alike," a most interesting and delightful photoplay. It comes Thursday for a three day showing.

AN EXCELLENT CAST

IN "SO LONG LETTY"

One of the best Robertson-Cole super-special releases of the year is "So Long Letty," the comedy-drama produced by Al Christie, which will be shown in a run of two days at the Auditorium. The picture is the screen adaptation of the Oliver Morosco play of the same name which established an enviable record on the legitimate stage during the last five seasons.

The picture was made in the Hollywood studios outside of Los Angeles by Mr. Christie so that everything in both productions are alike in detail and none of the fine points of the play as originally put on, are lost in the picture.

As a photo-play, "So Long Letty" has one of the most capable casts seen in any picture this season. The four principal characters call for artists of ability and in T. Roy Barnes, Grace Darmond, Colleen Moore and Walter Hiers, "So Long Letty" has practically an all-star aggregation. There are many beautiful bathing girls in the picture, Mr. Christie believing that water, either as a part of a picture setting or otherwise, is useless unless you put something worth while in it. Throughout the story of "Letty" matters become mixed, muddled and fixed in the most surprising manner. Two couples—newlyweds—are neighbors. The four present a quartet of dispositions as different as day is from night. Two husbands depict the home loving and the gay dog types. The two wives differ in about the same manner. It so happens the gay dog is married to the home body wife while the hubby of the free-lance and carpet slippers has the consort who loves the jazz band and the creations of a Fifth Avenue modiste.

The difference in temperament leads to all sorts of comedy and discussion with the result the men decide to swap wives. The women folks are called in to conference and they agree with the men in order to teach them a lesson. A trial of one week is demanded by the women before taking up the business of divorce. The trial week follows and so does some of the most interesting situations ever seen in pictures.

CONWAY TEARLE PLAYS

AT THE GRAND THEATRE

"The Road of Ambition" is the aptly descriptive title of Conway Tearle's Selznick Picture, which is the feature attraction at the Grand theater for three days, beginning today.

The story, which is from the pen of Elaine Sterne, one of the most prolific writers of screen material, deals with the career of a young man who, although without friends, money or education, is inspired by the unquenchable fires of ambition. He is, when the story starts, foreman in a large steel mill. He conceives an idea how to utilize a hitherto waste by-product of the iron ore and, the scheme being practical, it is adopted by the company which employs him. His fortunes rapidly rise in consequence, but he still realizes his lack of polish and education. To overcome this social defect he engages the daughter of a society woman who has met with financial reverses. But the woman is a clever schemer, and she plans to marry him in order to get his money. Failing in this, she attempts to ruin him both in business, socially, and in the field of politics, which he has recently entered. There is a battle of both muscle and mind, but in the end Bill Matthews achieves the heights of his ambition through the love of a true girl.

Miss Sterne's inspiring theme has been lavishly staged by William P. S. Earle, and the Selznick studios have provided the following superb cast of players: Florence Dixon, Florence Billings, Gladden James, Tom Cook, Tom McGuire and Adolf Millar.

LASSES WHITE QUARTET

HERE AGAIN TONIGHT

The Lasses White Quartet Four delighted large crowds yesterday with their singing. They will be heard at the Auditorium today for the last time. These boys will play vaudeville dates until the opening of The White show early in August. The comedy at the Auditorium today is the Farrel Truex and is selected bunch of fun-makers.

CAPACITY HOUSE WILL GREET

"BROADWAY BREVITIES"

Bert Williams and his company in "Broadway Brevities" of 1920 should be greeted by a capacity house on Wednesday, for the Auditorium management states the mail orders came in heavy and the box-office sale this a.m. was quite large.

Seats are now selling at the box-office and telephone orders will not be held later than 6 p.m. Wednesday.

UNUSUAL PIECE
OF WORK DONE
BY RALPH MILLER

Former Newark Man Introduces Modern Business Methods In Government Organization.

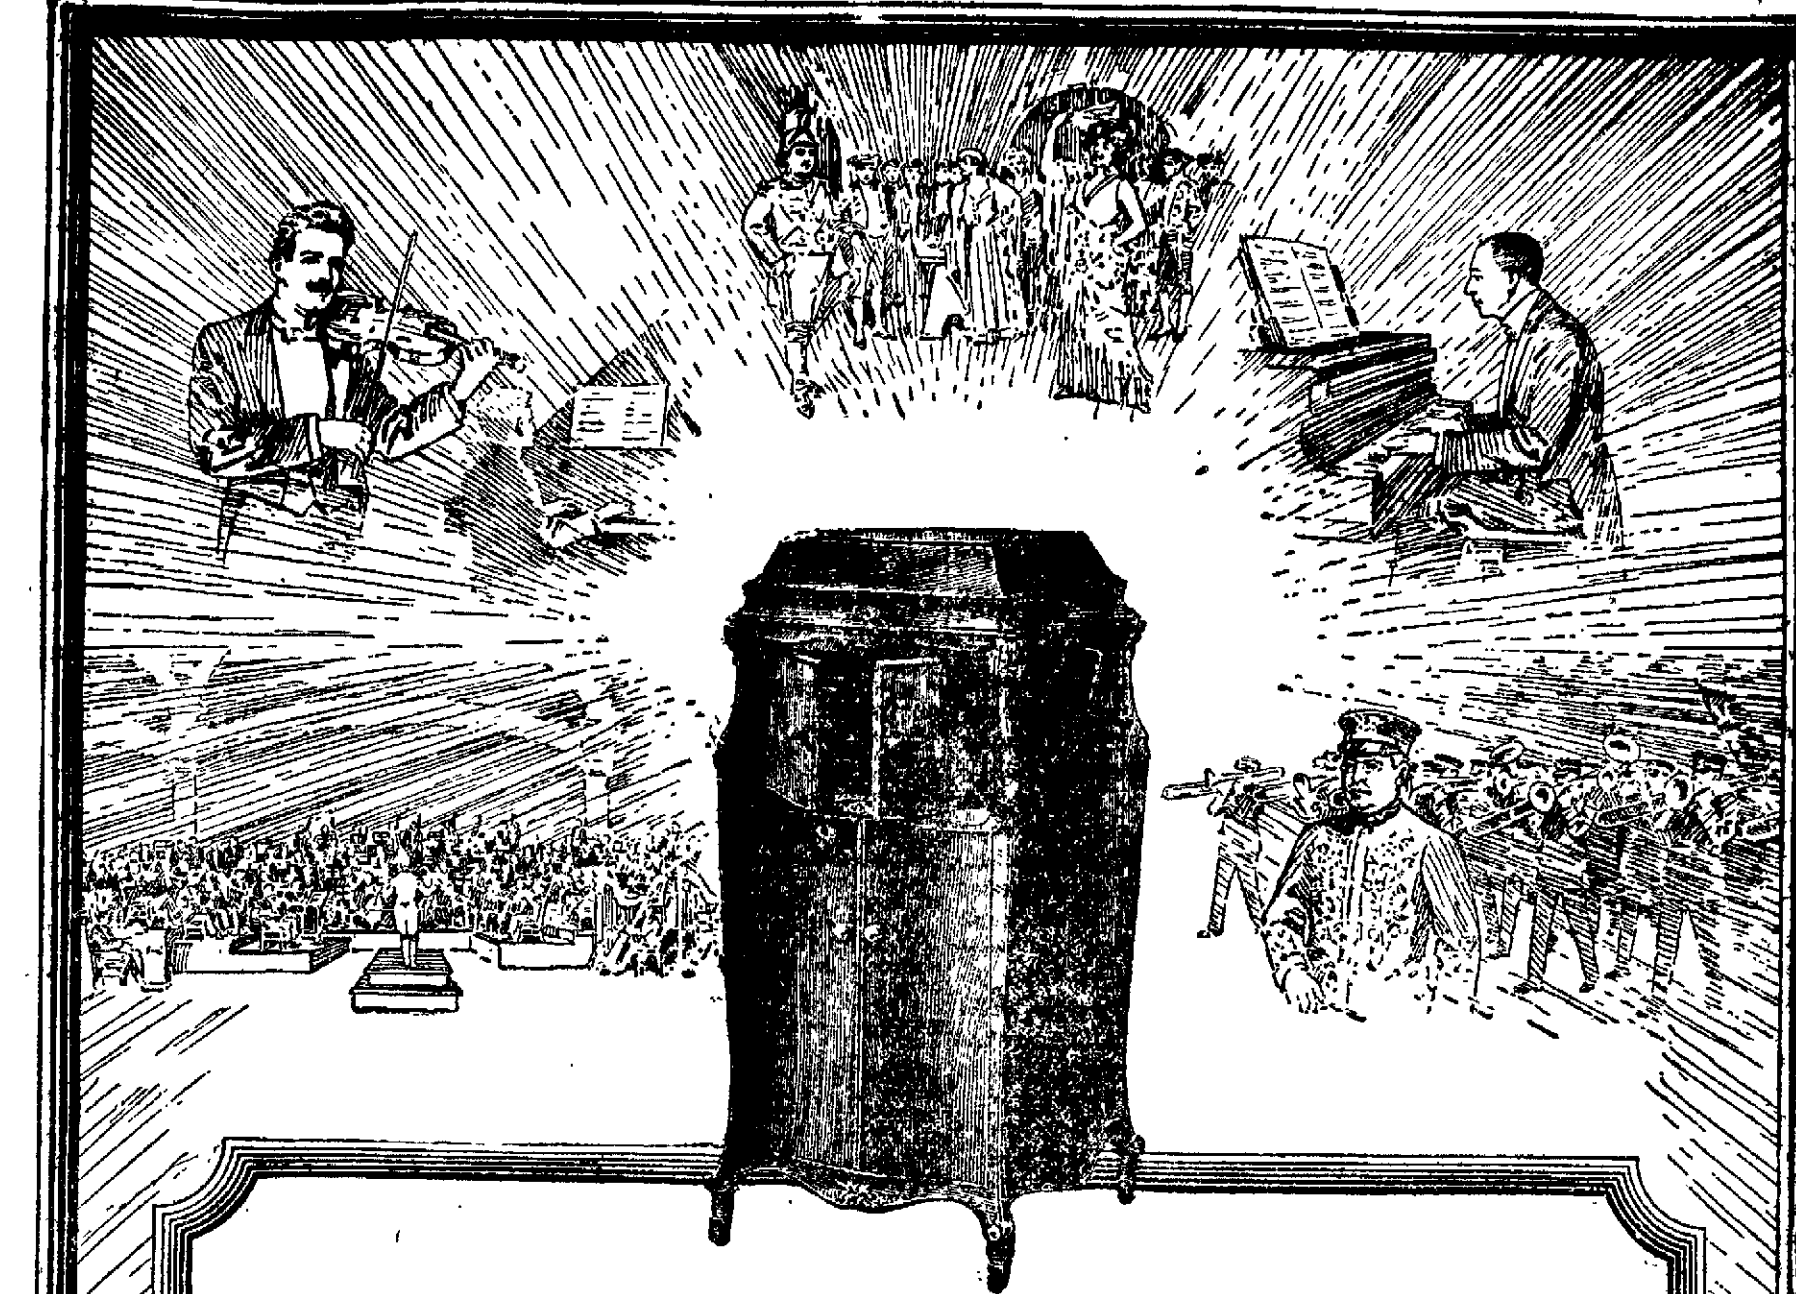

Ralph B. Miller, formerly of the Bureau of War Trade Intelligence, has recently completed a rather unusual piece of work. Mr. Miller has been engaged during the past year and a half in making a business organization out of one of the largest government bureaus. That he has succeeded to a considerable degree is indicated by facts set forth in a recent official report: Notwithstanding an increase in the amount of actual work handled, the number of field offices of his bureau has been reduced by slightly more than one-half and the paper work of the remainder has been cut down by almost two-thirds. The strong tendency in government work is toward centralization of control in Washington; Miller's plan, in accordance with modern commercial practice, has looked toward the greatest degree of decentralization that is possible under existing statutes.

When he first took up this work Mr. Miller was assured by a number of his friends that he was going into an impossible undertaking in trying to bring modern business methods into an undertaking in trying to bring modern business methods into an established government organization. His success in achieving the reorganization of this bureau has confirmed his belief that the reorganization of the entire federal government on a reasonably effective basis is an entirely feasible undertaking if approached from the point of view of the modern organization expert. He has developed a plan for the reorganization, in an administrative way, of the entire federal establishment. He has received considerable attention from interested persons.

Having been turned down for the first officers' training camp, Miller early in the war went with the Bureau of War Trade Intelligence of the War Trade Board. Notwithstanding four other attempts he was unable to get into the army and accordingly put into his civilian work the same spirit of service that would have been expected of him "in the service." Starting with rather routine work in the Bureau of War Trade Intelligence, he soon was given a free rein in his assignments to smooth out administrative difficulties in that very rapidly growing organization. Later, he became Chief of the Administrative Divisions of the Bureau of War Trade Intelligence and of the Bureau of Foreign Trade, as well as assistant chief of the former examining Division of the former bureau.

As side lines, he did several pieces of unusually interesting work. In collaboration with the Central Bureau of Planning and Statistics, he made the first study and prepared the first report on the entire civilian war activities, such as the War Trade Board, Fuel Administration, War Industries Board, War Relocation Authority, and other agencies. He was a member of the committee of which prepared for the Economic Section of the Peace Conference a two volume report covering German property in all the allied and neutral

ONE IDEA PEOPLE.

It is a surprising fact that in spite of the aggressive campaign conducted by the Socialist party, they cast only a few thousand more votes in 1920 than they did in 1912. During that period the number of voters has about doubled, owing largely to woman suffrage. To have held its own the Socialist vote should have doubled. Why did it fail to do so?

One reason is, that most Socialists are not able to look at facts in any broad way, but have their minds firmly fixed on one conception of life, and they make everything bend to that conception. They do not seem to weigh or consider any arguments that may be presented to them.

If you presented properly compiled reports to a competent business man, showing that in 20 representative cities, municipal ownership of street railways had proved profitable to the public, he would weigh those statements for just what they were worth.

He would look carefully look into the accounts and see that all the charges properly made against the operation of such roads had been made in these cases. Then if the facts indicated such municipal ownership to be a success, no previous prejudice would prevent his forming at least a tentative opinion, that public operation of trolley lines may be a very good proposition.

But if you presented the contrary proposition, with figures from 20 different cities clearly showing municipal ownership of street railways to be a failure, it would make no impression on the mind of the ordinary Socialist. Most of them in fact do not have a good head for business, and could not make a correct analysis of figures for or against any proposition.

Before people can expect to influence public opinion, they must show a spirit of open mindedness, and willingness to weigh facts for what they are worth. When the Socialists begin to show this tendency, the American people will begin to listen to them.

TARIFF CHANGES.

One of the great obstacles to the development of American business has been found in the constant changes in our tariff system.

People would be encouraged to go into an industry by a tariff barrier so high as to prohibit importations and assure a handsome profit to the producers. But the prices thereby were so high that the people would rebel, and on the next political rebound, the high protection would be cut down. A concern that had been built up on this unscientific basis, had probably developed wasteful methods and it would be with some difficulty that it could come down to hard pan, and meet world competition as other industries have to.

It is always possible to produce a false appearance of prosperity by a high tariff. But no permanent prosperity can be expected unless merchandise is turned out for a reasonable price, and that is not usually done under high protective duties.

If a tariff is to err in any direction, it is better to have it too low than too high, because then capitalists and working people are not encouraged to develop industries on a false basis which will not endure. What is wanted now is a stable policy on which capital and labor can depend for many years.

There is great danger that the Republican party will again follow its old policy of a high prohibitive tariff, which can only be followed by one result. The inevitable outcome will be popular reaction, and repeal of duties that shut off all foreign competition. If the Republican party had but the sense to allow the tariff to remain somewhere near the present level, the country could be assured of a permanent basis for business for many years. Also it could produce goods for some where near the prices prevailing in Europe, which must be done in order to get a satisfactory foreign trade.

MAIN LINES OF HIGHWAY.

The question is debated among engineers, whether in laying out and improving the main lines of highway that are to be constructed in the near future, these through routes should be taken through the center of cities and towns, or should go around by the outskirts.

It is urged that dense traffic would be avoided by taking such lines through the outskirts of cities. Also the pedestrians and local traffic in such centers would not be annoyed by a stream of motor vehicles tearing through at high rates of speed, sometimes causing accidents.

On the other hand, the business men in most places would like to have the main lines go through the civic centers. In that way visitors get a better idea of the communities through which they pass. Many of them stop off and buy goods. Merchants feel that their taxes contribute largely to the new modern roads, and that the same should be applied in a way to help the business of the communities through which they pass.

Probably the motoring public would prefer the later plan of running the main lines through city centers. When they approach a town, they want to know what its best part looks like. They do not care to see the lumber yards and coal sheds and congested tenement districts that you commonly traverse in going through by rail.

When a long distance line reaches a very large city, there should be some alternative route by which travellers can go around without getting tangled up in dense traffic. But in nearly all communities there should be room enough for visitors to traverse the main streets. Our people want those who go through to see the full development of the city's business and civic life. If visitors and home folks only use consideration, a much larger traffic can be handled than is now seen.

The warm weather of this spring suggests that when the groundhog went back into his hole he knew as much about the future conditions as the Weather Bureau does.

After complaining about the need of highway repairs in Licking county a lot of motorists will proceed to tear around road curves and grind all the street surfacing.

The people who think advertising adds to the cost of goods, are about the same ones who think that labor saving machinery adds to the cost of the product.

The boys who have to lean their cheeks up against the girls when they dance, have not so far obtained any jobs as brain workers.

The boys of Newark are reminded that garden work promotes healthful perspiration just as much as running bases in the ball games.

How can you expect the children of these times are going to be amenable to discipline, when our wives positively refuse to obey?

A good many girls can't become efficient business workers, as it is taking all their energy to imitate the movie stars.

After spending $22,000,000,000 in luxuries in 1920, the American people groan over a billion spent for education.

The colliding motor speedsters are doing their best to replenish the stock of scrap iron.

It is sometimes possible by the exercise of a little strategy to wrest victory from defeat and this abysmal depths which our imagination pictures seems like a good place to park the bulk of that pearl laplace.

That there is a tree called "Talanvia Cryptomeroides" which grows nowhere outside the island of Formosa? It is thought to belong to the same order as the California redwood, and it grows to a height of 150 or 200 feet and attains a circumference of thirty feet. An effort has recently been made to discover whether it can be successful.

BORROWED HUSBANDS

LXXIX.—An Unsuccessful Dinner.

Dinner that night was a strained affair.

Nancy dined at the hotel with the Stanleys and Major Desmond, after phoning the Langwell residence and being informed by Edith's maid that Mrs. Langwell would not be dining at home and that the word had been received from the doctor.

Unwilling to risk a possible tete-a-tete dinner with Langwell, Nancy remained with the Stanleys, but she did so without enthusiasm. She was still resentful against Connie's attempted authority in ordering her to return to New York.

Connie herself was ostensibly dignified as a sign of her displeasure toward Nancy.

Major Desmond also said little, and his eyes were fixed questioning on Nancy. The latter wondered what was really going on behind that impassive exterior. Was he beginning to see the places in that very crude yarn which Connie had told him about the mysterious Gerry?

The thought sent a little tremor of fear through her, as she realized that she was more helplessly involved than ever by this latest occurrence.

Curtis Stanley, true to type, was frankly sulking. It was always his way when he became awkwardly involved in the denunciation of one of his practical jokes to seek safety in retirement. His first move was usually an attempt to foist the blame on someone else, and failing that he would become merely a peevish small child.

Instead of appreciating the gravity of the situation which his own perverse sense of humor had wrought, she was openly injured and which was designed to make the others of the party feel like culprits.

"Are you remaining in Chicago long, Major?" Connie inquired of the young officer.

Her air of martyrdom irritated Nancy beyond words. It said plainly: "My time and services which I offered gladly and generously have been spurned!"

"That depends," replied Major Desmond vaguely.

Connie raised her brows, questioningly.

"I asked Nancy to go back with me tomorrow, but she refused."

Desmond glanced quickly at Nancy, who suddenly remembered the strange request he had made at tea that day. He had as good as told her that the Langwells' was no place for her, and that it would be wise if she left Chicago before anything unpleasant happened.

In the shock of hearing of Gerry's loss and subsequent restoration, she had completely forgotten.

She looked at him blankly and said slowly:

"How curious that two different people should command me to return home and neither of you my hosts! To be quite frank with you, I wish to remain. Very interesting things have happened here during my stay, and I'd like to clear up the matter before I go."

"Did Major Desmond also ask you to leave?" demanded Connie, turning to Nancy. "I wonder if his reason was the same as mine?"

The major smiled.

"I doubt it very much, Mrs. Stanley. I've only been on the ground a few days, but I've seen some things I did not like, particularly within the last twenty-four hours. And I think we could save Mrs. Burrard a great deal of unpleasantness if she would take our advice."

"Nancy never took anybody's advice, not even Gerry's," snapped Connie, without stopping to think.

The silence that followed was oppressive, and Nancy, confusedly drawing patterns on the table cloth with her finger, could feel the insistent questioning of Major Desmond's glance.

THIS YOUNG MOTHER

Tells Childless Women What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Her

Millston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful medicine. We are very fond of children and for a considerable time after we married I feared I would not have any owing to my weak condition. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I have a nice strong healthy baby girl. I can honestly say that I did not suffer much more when my baby was born than I used to suffer with my periods before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound years ago. I give all the credit to your medicine and shall always recommend it very highly."—Mrs. H. H. JANSSEN, Millston, Wisconsin.

How can women who are weak and sickly expect or hope to become mothers of healthy children? Their first duty is to themselves. They should overcome the derangement or debility that is dragging them down, and strengthen the entire system, as did Mrs. Janssen, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and then they will be in a position to give their children the blessing of a good constitution.

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like, 15c and 30c.

Quits Cathartics—Internal Baths Relieved Permanently

Mr. Joseph A. Weis, Hotel Vendome, Washington, D. C., writes "Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute of New York as follows:

"On the 15th of June, 1915, I purchased a 'J. B. Cascade.' The result it has produced are simply marvelous. For 20 years I used cathartics, but have used nothing but the Cascade for almost a month. I feel like a new man; I want to be pleasant to everybody. Before I used the Cascade I was a grouch. Did not like anybody and could not be pleasant."

If you bathe internally with the "J. B. L. Cascade" you will find yourself always bright, confident and capable. Poisonous waste in the lower intestines makes us bilious, blue dull and nervous. Internal baths are Nature's own cure for constipation—just antiseptic warm water properly applied. Drugs force Nature—the "J. B. L. Cascade" gently assists her.

It is the invention of Charles L. Tyrrell, M. D., of New York, who specialized on Internal Bathing for 25 years, and will be shown and explained to you by Hudson Avenue Pharmacy 322 Hudson avenue who will also be glad to give you free of charge an interesting booklet called "Why Man of Today is Only 50 per cent Efficient," which covers the subject in a very thorough way.

Clip this out as a reminder and ask for the booklet the first time you are in the neighborhood.—Adv.

He is survived by his widow and an infant son, and four brothers, three of whom live at Mt. Vernon.

He had lived in the locality in which he died for the past 17 years and was a member of the Ellis Chapel church for 40 years.

Our Boys and Girls

With the approach of the hot weather the diet of the children cannot be looked after too carefully. A poached egg, cooked in the following manner, is good for breakfast, before the little ones go out to play. Have the water in a small agate pan boiling furiously, then set it back and breaking an egg into a saucer, slip it into the boiling water. Let it stay long enough to set, about two minutes, then take it out and add a little salt and a piece of butter. Put it on toast if you wish.

Soft boiled eggs are cooked in the same manner, except the shells are not broken and the egg is left in the water about ten minutes. Prunes are also a splendid article of diet for a young child, or in fact, for children of any age. If they are eaten once a day they tend to keep the bowels regular. Cook them as follows. Wash six large prunes put into a small pan and cover with cold water. Simmer three or four hours, never allowing the water to boil. As they swell and the water boils away, renew with hot water but use no sugar, as the prunes are sweet enough. Prunes cooked in this way can be pressed through a sieve and used for the filling for sandwiches.

English Like the Dickens. An advertisement from a Japanese newspaper:

"The news of English, we tell the latest. Write in perfectly safe and most earliest. Do a murder get committed we hear and tell of it. Do a mighty chief die, we publish it, and in borders of somber. Staff has each one been college, and write like the Kipling and the Dickens. We circulate every town and extortionate for advertisements. Buy it!"—The Pioneer (India.)

Why is it that it takes a woman so much longer to spend 98 cents than an even dollar?

Milady's Boudoir

Reducing Too Large Hips.

If she will persistently practice simple exercises in her own home the woman with too large hips can surely reduce them. Lie on the back with the hands at the sides and the arms outstretched, outlining a sweeping circle and making it as large as you can possibly stretch your legs. Without resting the leg, swing it at least in 20 circles and then do the same with the other leg.

The next day increase the number of circles to 25 and add five each day until you have attained 100. When you can swing that number, raise both legs at once and swing circles alternately, but in perpetual movement, one toe at the highest point when the other is at the lowest.

Now lie on the floor on your stomach, with the feet and knees together and the hands side by side in front, with the chin and palms down, take a long breath while counting seven, inhaling through the nose and holding the breath while lifting the full weight of the body once on the palms of the hands and on the toes. Now let the body down lightly on the floor and exhale through the mouth while counting six. Rest in this position for a moment before taking a second lift, then time trying to raise the body twice while holding the breath. Now start your full height, with the hands stretched far above the head, thumbs together and palms facing outward. Without bending the knees bend forward at the waist until the tips of the fingers touch the floor. Do this five times each night and morning until it can be done with no apparent effort.

HOW YOUR FAVORITE REMEDY DRECO HAS COME TO COST YOU LESS

By a new manufacturing process, all the good qualities are retained and expensive Alcohol eliminated. Does same reliable work at "before the war price."

Many lessons were learned during the war as to saving and as to reduction in costs. The manufacturers of Dreco learned something and that was how to make Dreco the same good medicine, preserve completely its full medicinal quality and do away with the alcohol which now costs so much. That is why today you can buy Dreco at "before the war price" and be assured of getting the same reliable remedy which so many people have praised for the relief of their troubles. For instance Mr. Walter Edmond said:

"My bowels were so badly constipated I had to take purgatives nearly every night. This strong medicine changed my stomach so that it often filled with gas and griping pains would hit me. I had pains in my back over my kidneys and my joints were sore and stiff.

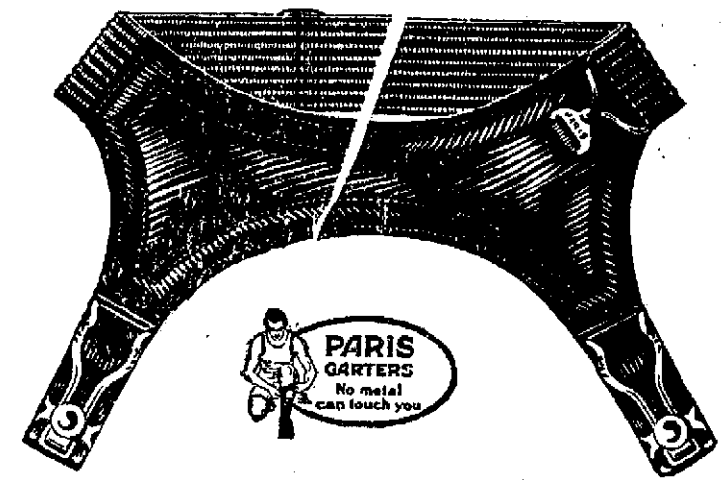

"I took a treatment of Dreco and I'm like a different person today. I soon noticed my bowels acting regular, the gas eased to form in my stomach, my appetite increased and my sleep became sound and refreshing. All the backache and sore joints have passed off and I can stoop over and bend about as well as ever. Dreco is great medicine and I strongly recommend it."

The old fashioned root and herbs are the best medicines for us to take. Dreco contains the juices and extracts of twelve different herbal plants, which act on the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and enrich the blood. Get Dreco today.

Dreco is being specially introduced by Evans' Cut-Rate Drug store in Newark, O., and sold by all druggists.

GOOD BLOOD

SPRINGTIME

People with Poor Appetite, Bad Com-

a Blood Tonic

GUIDE'S PEPTO-MANGAN IS BEST Makes Rich Red Blood—Renews Vitality and Increases Body's Resistance to Disease

Spring is the time when good blood is so vital to health. If you do not feel the thrill of Spring in your blood, if you do not feel the joy of Spring in your mind, if you feel your complexion pallid or muddy, and you tire easily, you can be pretty sure your blood is not up to the mark. So many feel that way in the Spring. Especially housewives who have so much work to do. They get overworked and run down—then their blood becomes weak and thin.

Build up your health now by taking that splendid Spring blood tonic, Guide's Pepto-Mangan. It will give vital power to the red corpuscles in your blood.
They will so racing through your blood, carrying fresh supplies of oxygen to all the tiny cells. It will help improve your eyes and your appetite. You'll take more interest in things and enjoy life more. You will stop going around with that tired, all-gone feeling.

Physicians have prescribed Guide's Pepto-Mangan for thirty years. You can see it at your druggist in either tablet or liquid form. Take whichever you prefer. They have the same medicinal value. Get the genuine—Adt.

GROW YOUR OWN FRUIT
GRAPES, CURRANTS, AND GOOSEBERRIES.

By F. F. ROCKWELL

Have you ever gathered for yourself, from your own vines bunches of luscious grapes which had ripened where they grew, with the bloom still on them, and the full amount of sugary juice that Nature intended, still in them?

Then you know that to have grapes to perfection, you must grow your own.
Grapes that have ripened in transit are lacking in the full, real flavor, or are soft and mushy. To have them both ripe and firm and plump, and full of sugary sweetness, grow your own.

And then—Grape Juice!

There is no more delicious beverage.
You can keep it "sweet"—just "grape juice;" or you can make your own light wine. It is simpler than any other kind of "home brew" you can attempt—simpler and better.

You may not have room for your own vineyard, but you surely have room for your own vine. You needn't have room for a row of grapes in the garden, or even for a grape arbor; you can grow them on trellises or even against the house, as they make splendid vines for shade.

Or use the Italian idea for a cool, out-door summer kitchen, merely posts for the frame work; poles nailed to these, and grape-vines for the walls and roof!

I have seen excellent grapes grow in under a year after vine that served the double purpose of shading the veranda and supplying the table. The grapes are really ideal for this sort of a combination, because most of the vines should be cut away every fall, and this gives free play for the sun to enter during the winter months when it is wanted.

With no plants is it more important to give thorough pruning, if you want quality fruit, than with your grapes.
And yet it is very easy to keep them in good condition, because this pruning can all be done at one time, and done during the fall or winter when you have little other garden work to attend to.
Pruning your vines to get big, luscious grapes and lots of them, is simple if you once understand the general principle.

In other words, the grapes you will next fall are home on wood that grows this spring and summer. Now if a grape vine is left to itself, after two or three years it becomes such a tangled mass that it cannot begin to bear all the fruit it sets, and the result is the small and mal-formed ones which are often seen. If on the other hand every branch or lateral is cut back each fall to within a few inches of the main stem, or stems, then the new canes thrown out the following year will have room to grow and a chance to develop fine fruit. You can cut away the old, crowded, and unproductive vines in the fall, without hurting them this year.

In regard to varieties, as I made plain in the first of these articles, it is well to buy only of some thoroughly reliable nursery firm, and to be guided by their advice in the sorts adapted to your special locality. In most sections of the country, however, any of the following varieties may be depended upon. And taken together—three to half a dozen varieties of each) they will give you a long succession of delicious grapes.

Black varieties: Campbell's Early, which is far superior to the old Concord and Worden. Red: Lindley, light-colored and very sweet; and Delaware, one of the most popular of all. White: Diamond and Niagara. Stark Delicious and Caco (Catawba Concord) are also very red sorts that have won great favor; Pocklington, a light golden colored sort, is not so well known as most of the above, but is especially fine for the home garden, for the table.
To get any of these in perfect bunches, for table use, the simplest and sure method is to "bud" the vines, and as soon as the fruit is the size of small peas, wired paper bags, made especially for the purpose, may be bought from seed and supply houses.

Curants are like grapes in that Pruning is a most important part of their culture. They are so easy to grow that every home garden should have its supply, even if there is room for only one variety, such as Perfection, a bright red sort. White grape and Black Champion may be added if space permits.

Curants will thrive in any good soil; in fact they are so hardy that they will survive under continued neglect. But for really fine fruit, prune out the old wood, that has borne three or four crops and enough of the new wood to leave the bushes open and uncrowded.
This will give fruit twice Three times the size of that which grows on the left to themselves. If the curant worm gets in an appearance, he can be controlled by dusting, just as soon as the little worms are noticed, with hellbore powder.

Gooseberries also require very free pruning, not only to increase the size of the fruit, but to keep the plants so open that sun and wind may freely strike all parts of it, and thus decrease the danger of mildew. Some of the American sorts, such as Josselyn and Downing, are resistant to the mildew.

GOOD BERRY VARIETIES FOR HOME GARDENS.
Do you want to grow a patch of blackberries or raspberries this summer?
Blackberry and red raspberry plants may be propagated by taking pieces of roots and burying them two or three inches in the ground. These throw out large sprouts, which in one season make plants large enough to set in plots.

Also sprouts from a plot of good varieties may be taken up with roots attached. These will make good plants if taken when they are a year old.

When the blackberries or raspberries are set out weeds and grass should be hoed out of the plots so that the new plants may have plenty of food and moisture. Usually berry plantations may be kept from three to four years under this system.

Desirable varieties, according to the department of horticulture, Ohio Experiment Station, in the black raspberries are: Cumberland, Kansas, Gregg and Plum Farmer.

Cuthbert, King, Herbert and Rogers
(St. Regis) are leading among the red raspberries.

Good varieties of blackberries are:
Eldorado, Snyder, Early Harvest and Early King.

HOME MASH-MIXTURE FOR FEEDING CHICKS.
A satisfactory mash mixture for feeding young chicks, as worked out at the Ohio Experiment Station, consists of two parts by weight of ground corn, three parts bran and one part fine meatscan.

After the chicks were placed under a brooder stove equal parts by weight of the mash and boiled infertile eggs, which have been run through an ordinary feed grinder, were given three times daily. This mixture was fed on paper.

Chicks are given access to a trough of dry bran after the fifth day.

Cracked corn was also fed in the morning and an hour before dark.

After the chicks were four weeks old, feeding of the mash three times daily was discontinued, but kept constantly available in hoppers and small troughs.
Grain was also fed twice daily, once in the morning and once in the evening.

Young chicks are kept around a brooder stove by an enclosure made with a strip of roofing, 12 inches high, covering a radius of about 18 inches larger than the canopy of the brooder stove. This was enlarged each day, but removed after the fifth day of brooding.

PENNSYLVANIA WOULD CUT PAY OF CLERKS

Pittsburgh, April 11.—Reduction in wages from 15 to 20 per cent was proposed to representatives of the clerical and station forces of the Pennsylvania railroad by the road's managers committee in conference here Saturday. Approximately 46,000 employees in these departments of the system would be affected by the plan.

The proposal contemplates the reduction of $25 a month, $1 a day, or 12 1/2 cents an hour, depending upon the basis of pay for storekeepers and their assistants and foreman and sub foremen.

The entering rate of $70 a month for clerks with one year's experience and $60 a month for student clerks and others with less than one year's experience was proposed. This class included chief clerks and other supervisory forces. Present minimum rates for clerks with more than a year's experience is $114.02 and $100.75 for those with no experience or less than a year.

No existing rates for train and engine crews, callers, train announcers, baggage and parcel room employees, janitors, elevator and switchboard operators, watchmen and those engaged in light duties about the offices would be reduced to below $70 a month, $2.75 a day or 34.3 cents an hour, depending upon the rate basis, according to the plan. Three rates would be used also as entering rates for employees. For office boys, messengers and other employees would be paid the common labor rate plus five, six and even seven cent differentials in accordance with a system of territorial zones.

In a brief presenting the proposal to the employees representatives, the management pointed out that there has been a decline in living costs and that

POINTS IN SELECTING GOOD SEED POTATOES.

Care should be observed in selecting seed potatoes if good yields are to be secured, according to the department of botany at the Ohio Experiment Station.

Potatoes showing inside discoloration when they are being cut for seed should not be used. Fusarium wilt is identified by a sunken area at the stem end of the tuber and a dark brown crescent-shaped mark on the longitudinal section of the potato.

Treating seed stock with formalin or corrosive sublimate fails to control this wilt and spraying later on gives no help.

The selection of disease-free seed potatoes, together with crop rotation there is no longer an abnormal demand for these classes of employees in other industries.

This is the sixth of a series of wage conferences the managers committee has held with representatives of various departments of the system. The last of the conferences will be concluded a week from today.

Mr. Gnaggs—"You should remember that charity begins at home." Mrs. Gnaggs—"Yes, generally, by cutting down a wife's allowance."

seems to be the only method to check this disease.

Back leg is controlled by selecting seed showing no internal discoloration. The time to check this disease is when the seed is taken from the storage bin.

"Potato Diseases," a bulletin explaining the process of seed treatment and selection of seed tubers is mailed free to Ohio potato growers upon request to Ohio Experiment Station, Wooster.
